

June 6th, 2006 Newsletter

Hello Double Helix Glassworks Customers,

What can we say, don't hate us because our glass is beautiful? We put up the entire batch of Olympian Rain on Monday morning thinking that would slow you all down. But no, you all just bought it up twice as fast! Then to help all the people who got booted off the system we opened up pre-orders on the June 26th batch, but someone spilled the beans and we sold out of that! We're glad you all like our glass so much! We're also grateful that we have such NICE customers. Even when it's hard to get the glass you've all been very patient, encouraging, and funny. We truly thank you for that!

We have set up our system to take pre-orders, whoa, hold on, don't run over there yet! I haven't turned it on because you haven't had a chance to read this newsletter yet. I will turn on pre-orders for all our scheduled production through July of Olympia Rain and Kronos at noon tomorrow, June 7th. Now, we haven't synchronized our watches so my noon may be a few minutes different from yours. (I wonder if naming a color after the god of time might be causing us some problems in that department.) One more set of directions today... We don't want you to pay when you pre-order!!!.....When the glass is produced our website will send out an email that your order has partially shipped.... please pay for your order then.

Thank you,
Jed and Julie
